There's an old saying about putting first things first.

Even though my plate is full here in Baton Rouge, I'm about to head to Tallahassee to meet my brother, who's flying in from Denver, and to see my mom. She's been having some health problems, and it's time for the three of us to be together and to figure out the best way to assure her continuing care. Surely not an easy task but clearly important.

This week lots of administrative things have gotten put on hold, in some cases yet again, because of numerous requests for pastoral care. I'm sorry if there's an email or a committee meeting follow up that I've missed, or if that last sermon wasn't up to par, but I'm a pastor first.

What are your first things?

Of course there are lots of ways to look at it. Some priorities are set for us, for others we have more flexibility. In the small group that Melody Joachim and I have been facilitating, we've been talking about making a daily spiritual practice a priority even though all sorts of factors seem to work against it. Perhaps you have a commitment to dinner with your family or reading to your kids at bedtime. Perhaps calling your aging father, a cup of coffee with your spouse, or meeting a friend at the gym are your first thing in the morning priorities. We have financial priorities, personal priorities, spiritual priorities, family priorities, work priorities, and surely others.

What are your first things? What's important to you and are you putting those things first?

I have a friend in Memphis who is a financial planner. I remember years ago the first time I heard her say that as she works with her clients they begin by talking about what's important. Not just things like retirement, buying a house, or college, but the values underneath those and other financial decisions. Indeed, what are the values underneath our priorities?

For me I guess it all comes down to relationships, lots of types of relationships...family, church, community...but first and foremost a relationship with God that calls me to certain behaviors and priorities.

What about you? What are your first things? What's important to you and are you putting those things first?

May God guide us all in putting first things first,

Christian Education at UPC 2015-2016

Pre-K and Kindergarten (Ages 4 - Kindergarten) Room 105

Curriculum: Grace and Gratitude, "Ages 3-5," a quarterly curriculum that will help transform the lives of children and those who love them, shaped by grace and gratitude. Each session shares a Bible story that reveals God's grace for us. Through fun, age-appropriate activities, and prayer, children and their leaders will celebrate the meaning of this grace in their lives as they encounter a living God.

Teachers: Pat Strain, Barbara Gray, Griffin Campbell

Elementary (Grades 1-5) Room 213

Curriculum: Grace and Gratitude, "Multi-age 5-10," a quarterly curriculum that will help transform the lives of children and those who love them, shaped by grace and gratitude. Each session shares a Bible story that reveals God's grace for us. Each class begins with a time of singing together before moving to a time of exploring a Bible story, doing crafts, and praying together.

Teachers: Betsy Wilks, Christine Russell, Lynne Wallace, Linda Walker, Robbie Phillipbaum

Middle School (Grades 6-8) Room 203

Through a rich and inviting curriculum, we will explore Paul's letter to the Philippians through evocative juxtapositions of visual images, poetry, and other worship-related arts with theological meditations, prayers, and more. This class takes a multidimensional approach leaving space for contemplation, reflection, and discussion. Together we will slow down and be drawn into the deeper message of Paul's letter.

Adult Parks Wilson Class Parks Wilson Room (108)

"Psalms as History and Poetry." Stuart Irvine and Ava Haymon together lead discussions of selected Psalms with the purpose of exploring what they teach us about the ancient world as well as what they continue to communicate to us today.

UPC Directory Update We want you!

It's coming! Photography for our new pictorial directory begins on Tuesday, October 6 and continues on October 7, 8, 9, 10, and 13. Photography session times are from 2:30 to 8:30 during the week and from 10 to 5 on Saturday. There are still some excellent appointment times available.

Why do a pictorial directory? Do you know how hard it is to know who all these "new" or "been here forever people" are? Remember, you are one of them. The way to help everyone know is to get your picture taken. There is no charge, and every person/group being photographed gets a free directory, an 8x10 photo, and a $10 certificate toward purchase, if you wish to purchase, but no purchase is necessary. Other discounts will be available to seniors, members of the military, firefighters, and police. If you bring an item for the food bank, you will receive a $5 certificate. These certificates will be available to you when you check in the day of your photo session.

How can you sign up? You can schedule your appointment online at our web site, www.upcbr.org; (scroll down to upcoming events; select October 6, click on "more info," and follow the instructions on the web site. Prefer to talk to a person? Call Caralyn at the church office (383-0345) during church hours, 8:30 to 2:30 during the week, and she will sign you up. We invite our long-time visitors and potential members to be a part of the directory.

A listing on our church bulletin cover says "Ministers: the people of this church." The directory is part of our ministry. We hope that you can be a part of it.

For all events RSVP online at www.ifedgbr.com or call 225-267-5600

Izquierdo to preach October 18th.....

Articulate, fully fluent in English, and thoroughly entertaining, Pastor Daniel Izquierdo (Hernandez) will offer insights into Cuba and our shared experiences as children of God when he fills the pulpit Sunday, October 18th. Izquierdo is General Secretary of the National Synod of the Presbytery in Cuba and pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Luyanó.

The grandson of a Presbyterian minister and son of a lay leader, Izquierdo started life as an architect, a career which he loved. While caring for his grandfather in his last days, Izquierdo heard a calling and followed it to seminary, the pastorate, and leadership within the Cuban Presbyterian church.

Recently Izquierdo met with our UPC Cuban travelers in Luyanó, providing them with an excellent history of the Presbyterian Church in Cuba.

Following the 11:00 a.m. service there will be a catered lunch for all, providing a chance to meet and talk with Daniel. Later in the afternoon, he will meet with our youth as they plan for their summer trip to Cuba.

The Gift that keeps giving.....

We all know that shopping local is preferable, but every now and then we find ourselves searching Amazon. When that happens, please consider accessing Amazon through www.livingwatersfortheworld.org.

When you go to their website and access Amazon from their home page (about halfway down on the right) any orders will automatically provide a 5% donation based on your purchase price to Living Waters for the World. It costs you nothing, and you are helping provide clean water to people in countries where clean water is not readily available. Living Waters is the organization our UPC water team uses when installing systems in Cuba.

Please be aware that this is not the Amazon Smile program. You must access through the Living Waters web site in order for them to receive a percentage of your purchase.

FALL 2015 Courtyard Collage.....

Its time again for the Courtyard Collage! The date for the fall Courtyard Collage is Friday, November 13, from 6:00-8:00 p.m. If you are interested in participating, please e-mail Skeeter Cedars at henry_cedars@yahoo.com. We are looking for talent of all kinds. Of course music, drama, poetry, art, etc...but also other talents! Maybe you're a juggler, a stilt walker, a unicyclist, or a tap dancer? If you have a special talent you'd like to share, please e-mail us. And don't forget children and teenagers are welcome to participate too!

COVENANT NETWORK NATIONAL CONFERENCE

unity MATTERS

November 5-7, 2015
Central Presbyterian Church
Denver, Colorado

It's a new day in the church. LGBTQ people are able to be ordained. Same-gender marriages are permitted. But we are not all together.

Lines of race, ethnicity, gender, economic status and more separate us, even—especially?—in the church. Theological differences define and divide us. And even with the progress we have seen, there is still much work to do to ensure LGBTQ people are fully welcomed in every part of our denomination.

The 2015 Covenant Conference will explore the fullness of the unity of the church. Inspired by the Confession of Belhar—which has been approved by the presbyteries and will likely become part of the Book of Confessions next year—we consider how the church can fulfill its call to justice and reconciliation. How can we understand our mission and ministry differently and live differently to become the truly inclusive church God is calling us to be? Challenging keynotes, powerful preaching, and the warm fellowship of partners in this journey will all be part of this biennial event.

The conference will take place at the historic Central Presbyterian Church, a welcoming and inclusive congregation serving Denver's downtown community for more than 150 years. Worship and plenary sessions will happen in its historic sanctuary, with workshops and meals elsewhere in the fully accessible building.

UPC has a fund to provide some scholarships for events such as this one. Contact Patti Snyder if you are interested.
