CONTACT

This morning there was only a trickle of them, dotted like odd white stumps slanted across University Lake – pelicans, that is. But a few short weeks ago they were a totally different sight.

One day shortly after this year's arrival, in the midst of the gracefully awkward ballet of feeding, resting, and low flying they bring to our neighborhood, I caught a glimpse of them out of the corner of my eye while driving on Dalrymple from the Interstate toward the church. They stretched in a long curving swath, wide at the road and narrowing as they neared the other side of University Lake. There were thousands of them clumped together, a bent wing jutting up here or there, the occasional huge beak poking skyward, flashes of black in an undulating sea of white, their bodies together making a path of sorts, like you might find on a greeting card, disappearing into the distance. I swerved off the road to jump from the car and capture what I'd seen on my phone's camera. Only it was too late; as quickly as they'd formed their lumpy pathway, they'd scattered.

Sometimes it's like that, isn't it? A path forward comes clear if but for an instant before thoughts scatter, hesitations interfere, new information emerges, and things don't look the same. It happens in all sorts of situations - when one is pondering trying something new, when change has shown up on our doorsteps, when life offers up seemingly too many variables or challenges or longings.

As we enter into the season of Advent, awaiting Christ's coming anew into our midst and anticipating the new year, we do so perhaps wondering what path might be made for the hope and peace and joy and love that we look for in this weary world. What roads will we travel together in the new year? Or what path will we take forward following Mike's departure?

The pelican path that I glimpsed, if but for a moment, reminds me that the path forward always is more than what can be seen in a glimpse. The path forward is made up of many, many decisions – like a myriad of pelican backs on which to step - one leading to the next. The path forward for the church and for the large and small neighborhoods of which we are a part is made up of all of our bodies – poking awkward elbows, gaping hungers, black and white and brown together.

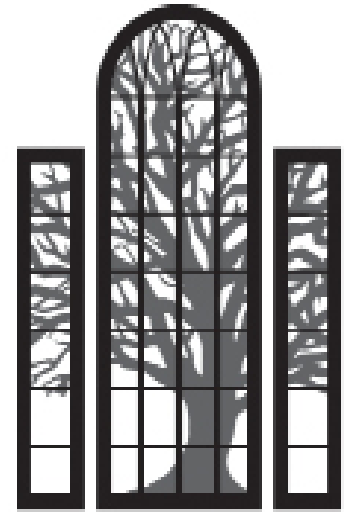

Emily Dickinson said that “hope is the thing with feathers that perches in the soul.” It is also the path forward.

My love to all of you,

Spread the Joy!

This holiday season UPC is again working with Presbyterian Childrens Home and Services and Catholic Charities to provide Christmas gifts for children. Beginning in mid-November, each Sunday morning Mission and Peacemaking Committee members will distribute names and wish lists of local children for the congregation to shop for. Cash donations also will be used by senior high youth to shop. Each year UPC helps provide a happier Christmas for more than 70 local children. Please stop by the table in the Welcome Center. Name distribution began November 12 and will continue until all the names are taken. All wrapped gifts must be returned to UPC by December 10.

Sunday Flower Donations

Beautiful flowers appear like magic every Sunday in preparation for worship. Members of the congregation donate the funds and others purchase and arrange the flowers. We really appreciate our flower arrangers for this year: Beverly Smiley, Eleanor Canon, Kenton Cooper, Anita Melon, Tom and Betty Shelton, Pat Strain, and Peggy Carroll. It is time to make next year's flower calendar. If you would like to join our team, please contact Peggy Carroll peggoc@yahoo.com or call her at 726-7856.

Memorial Flower Donation envelopes are available in the pews for you to fill out to reserve flowers for 2018 Sunday Services. Available dates for donation can be found in the Sunday bulletins (starting December 3) or by contacting the church office. Place your completed envelope in the offering plate, and we will take care of the rest. Thank you for making Sunday services so beautiful.

Daily Advent Devotionals

Pick up your copy of this year's daily advent devotionals book in the Welcome Center. The book is entitled, Rise Up, Shepherd! Advent Reflections on the Spirituals, by Luke A. Powery. Each day provides a series of scripture readings, lyrics to an African American Spiritual, a reflection, and a prayer. There will be a small suggested donation.

TBR Delegates Assembly

Together Baton Rouge will host its annual Delegates Assembly Tuesday, December 5, from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. at Shiloh Baptist Church. While there are designated delegates from each TBR Member Institution, everyone is encouraged to attend. Besides celebrating our 2017 accomplishments, TBR will be reflecting on and ratifying certain important proposals, especially surrounding institutional development and a House Meeting Strategy. These past two years have been quite heady for TBR and for the city, and as we process our achievements, we want to recommit to our roots. We hope that you can join us!

UPC Talent on Display

If you have something that you would like to share with your church family in 2018, please contact Peggy Carroll peggoc@yahoo.com or 726 7856. Each display remains for one month.

SO, You have some money left at year's end??

OR if you want to commit another generous act of hospitality and gratitude this year, The University Presbyterian Church is ready to accept additional funds to help retire the outstanding $200,000 congregational debt for the building project that was completed in 2014.

Many people - members, former members, friends, loved ones, and community members - are responsible for paying off a whopping total of $2,691,743.73, which is above and beyond regular pledges. Congratulations on a phenomenal accomplishment! The improvements to our facility have enabled our church to meet the mission and goals of our session and to share this beautiful facility with our community.

The remaining $200,000 debt will need to become a line item in our future budgets until this amount is retired. Interest will continue to be accrued on this debt and it will become more difficult to complete the loan payment. Any additional assistance that you can contribute at this time will be greatly appreciated.

Checks or EFT's may be submitted to University Presbyterian Church, with the purpose of "Capital Campaign" and the amount will be credited to the proper account.

Annual Stewardship Campaign Update

It's not too late to make your pledge to UPC's Annual Stewardship Campaign. Pledge cards can be found in each pew. As of November 29, 2017, we have received 67 pledges for a total of $384,492. The church's budget in 2018 will require significantly more in pledges for the year in order to continue our current mission pathways. Make your pledge today for the future ministry of UPC in 2018!

SEWING FOR MISSION BY HELPING HANDS

new projects to consider joining in on

PROJECT 1: “Little Hats, Big Hearts Campaign” is a partnership with the Children’s Heart Foundation to celebrate American Heart Month. Knitted or crocheted red baby hats will be provided for thousands of babies born in February 2018 to encourage moms to live heart healthy lives and to help their children do the same. Supplies for the red hats will be available in the Helping Hands basket on the table outside the Sanctuary. If you would like to learn to make the hats we will give lessons at Helping Hands on the 3rd Tuesday of the month at 9:30 a.m. in the Conference Room.

PROJECT 2: “Days For Girls” In many parts of the world – where fresh water, sanitation and feminine hygiene supplies are scarce or nonexistent – girls miss school during their periods. We will be putting together Days for Girls kits which will contain washable supplies along with a bar of soap. This project will begin in January 2018. If anyone is interested, there will be many ways to be involved. Contact Peggy Carroll 726-7856 with any questions.
