From My Window

We've turned the page on 2022 and the next chapter is beginning. In so many ways in the next few months our lives together might seem like a glossary of change. A new year has begun, Epiphany and soon Lent are upon us, membership roles are being reviewed, we'll soon be saying good bye to David Walters as he graduates from his program at LSU, new officers are being discerned, and a major change in pastoral leadership is coming (see the letter on page 4). Who knows what other changes - twists in the story - might be on the horizon. Twists in stories always prompt questions. Who? What? When? How?

Many of you are avid readers and you know that the only way to get answers is to keep reading. If you are like me you might get up at the crack of dawn or stay up until all hours of the night to get some answers, but there is no skipping to the end. If you do, it's nothing but disappointing, confusing, disorienting.

It is only one area at a time that our stories unfold. Each chapter, each page, each character and paragraph part of the whole. And even when we come to the end, at least the end of the best stories, they remain with us, continuing to shape us.

So, my friends, here we go. A new year. Lent. Changes. Questions. Possibilities. But as people of Christ's story we know already that Easter - new life - is always on the way!

Blessings,

The youth group also contributed by wrapping many of the gifts with a personal touch. Thank you for helping to make a real difference to children in our community.

This film examines the experiences of Presbyterian churches in the Deep South during the civil rights era. Carolyn Crowder, director, and Rod Murphy, producer, will be our guest presenters. They will also talk about the project during the Parks Wilson class on 9:45 a.m. that same morning. More information about the film can be found at <http://carolyncrowder.com/>

Memo: An important message from one of your pastors

Sunday - January 22, 2023

Dearest University Presbyterian folk,

This afternoon I let the session know that I will be retiring from full time ministry this spring. My last day of service with you will be Sunday, April 23. This is a bit earlier than you might have imagined but to my mind and heart the circumstances in my life and in UPC's are right.

These 21 years as your pastor have been perhaps the richest of my life. Together we have welcomed so many into the embrace of the church. We have said goodbye to much of a generation and wished those in Baton Rouge for simply a season of life God's speed in their next chapter. We have baptized, raised, and married our children as well as welcomed them into church leadership or sent them with love to follow other paths. We've held one another's hands as we went through illnesses of mind and body and shared the joy of life's happiest moments.

In all the ways that we have followed Christ together we have shared a commitment to hospitality. Refugees from storms, those working on recovery efforts, folks in the LGBTQ+ community, and others have found sanctuary, welcome, and community here. The major capital campaign that we completed together made the building reflect this vision with handicapped accessible bathrooms, showers, a welcome center, columbarium, dormitory, and revamped playground.

We have navigated changing political situations, a shift in the role of the deacons at UPC, and were one of the first congregations to join in the work of what is now Together Baton Rouge. These years have been marked by the arrival and departure of Associate pastors, and now the addition of my delightful colleague, Mamie, as Co-Pastor. We've supported one another through a world-wide pandemic and the accompanying technological and interpersonal adjustments. Throughout it all we have faithfully worshipped together and turned our hearts and lives to Christ's call for justice and peace. I am filled with profound gratitude for all the ways you have invited me into your lives and for the ways you have supported me in mine. Being your pastor has been a deep privilege. One that I will always cherish, as I will always cherish you.

My epiphany star word this year is "clarity." It has become clear to me after much prayer and reflection that it is time for the next chapter to begin – the next chapter of my story and the next chapter for you. Upon my retirement Jim and I will be spending a good bit of time in Washington state welcoming our first grandchild and then, well, we will see what God has in store. I have been feeling more and more the call to spend significant time offering Spiritual Direction and will be pursuing that avenue of ministry. But most of all, I will be listening for Christ's call. It is an exciting and sometimes daunting time.

My prayer is that you too will find yourselves at an exciting threshold. I am confident that your future, as your past, will be filled with God's astounding grace and sustenance. I have no doubt that this community will continue - and find new ways as well – to embody God's love and justice.

In the next few months there will be opportunities for imagining what your new chapter might look like. I know that your session, Mamie, and the Presbytery of South Louisiana will offer wonderful leadership in this. In addition to looking forward, there will also be time for sharing memories and stories of our time in ministry together. If you would like time to meet with me individually during the next months, please just send me an email and we will sit down together. The rocking chairs on the sanctuary porch are waiting for us!

With profound gratitude and abiding love,
Patti

Our Story

This Lent we will be hanging out with a variety of the parables in Matthew. Jesus taught using these parables, these stories, as a way to engage his listeners and form their faith. Our own lives (personally, professionally, congregationally) are constituted with stories that both set us apart and knit us together. This Lent we'll have the chance to share some of those as well.

As part of our faith formation, we will have a variety of small groups related to stories. One that will talk about the stories we have about money, another about the stories of each of our lives, one focused on the trauma caused by our country's story of racism, and another will evoke stories by way of fairytales. Visio Divina will look at art that goes along with the parables we'll read on Sundays. (See article on page 6.) Watch the bulletin and your email for specifics about these small groups that will begin after Ash Wednesday (February 22).

Each Friday a story prompt will come to your email, and you are invited to set aside fifteen minutes (or more) to think and write a story in response. We would love to read any of those stories and hope we might form them into a devotional to read during the Easter season. (If you would like some ideas about Lenten devotional readings, Patti or Mamie can offer suggestions.) Find your way or ways to be part of the story this Lent!

Text Prayers

It can be hard to set aside a time to pray. What if you had a group of three or four people who would meet you on your phone once a week for just twenty minutes to share a joy and concern with you and who would listen to yours and hold it too? If that sounds compelling to you, join us for text prayers during Lent. It's a simple way to hear from others and to share your joys and concerns so we all remember we're in this together. Let Mamie know if you are interested (mbroadhurst@upcbr.org).

FELLOWSHIP COMING SOON...

We will host a storytelling night around fire pits in the courtyard on March 10. We might even have a movie night! Keep an eye on the website, bulletin, and on your email to get more details about this and other events as we get closer to the beginning of the season!

PRACTICE FOR LENT - STORYTELLING

To begin, here's a prayer created by Fr. Richard Rohr based on Psalm 46:10. Let it help you be attentive to the presence of God. Find a comforting safe place. Quietly read aloud each line of the prayer, taking slow, steady breaths as you go:

Be still and know that I am God.

Be still and know that I am.

Be still and know.

Be still.

Be.

Amen

THE EXAMEN

Within this new quiet space of awareness of God, begin a weekly examen. Allow this practice to help you see the ways your story is part of God's story.

1. Begin by looking back through the week, starting with Sunday and moving from one day to the next. Are there instances that immediately come to mind? Rest on those moments. Let any feelings rise and fall.
2. Which of those moments brought feelings of despair, disappointment, sadness, or hopelessness? Hold those feelings for a moment:
 - What lifted you and helped you continue despite those low moments?
 - What did you wish or hope for in the midst of those moments – perhaps an apology, a listening ear, a shoulder to cry on, rest?
 - What small glimmer of light was provided – perhaps a laugh, a text, a hug, a cup of coffee or tea, or maybe a nap?
3. Go back to the beginning of the week. What moments come to mind that give you feelings of joy, peace, courage, or calm? Let those feelings rise and keep rising:
 - What made you extremely grateful?
 - What made you feel secure?
 - What made you feel seen, loved and known?
4. Where in creation did you see the reflection of God? Where did you see God's reflection in other people?
5. What hopes do you hold for next week?

Small Groups in Lent

Lent this year brings us the opportunity to explore in depth how stories open us up to new possibilities both as a community and as individuals. In Visio Divina, Patti Snyder will be focusing on a special kind of storytelling, parables. Through "reflection and quick art projects" this group will explore these often paradoxical stories. Jill Clemmons and Kelly Kerr will co-host "Let me tell you a story," a small group writing and discussing stories about the group's own personal experiences. Their group will be meeting on Mondays at 7 p.m. at UPC, beginning on February 27. Award-winning poet Ava Haymon will lead an online small group this Lent, giving participants a chance to explore personal narratives through the lens of Fairy Tales and Parables. On Thursdays at 5:30 p.m. Mamie Broadhurst and Lori Pilley will explore yet another possibility with stories. Their small group, "Our Story with Money," will offer new insights into the way we think about stewardship. This Lent we'll also offer a small group led by Virginia Davis and Linda Walker called Dealing with Racism: Pathways to Mending Hearts and Bodies. The first meeting of this group will be on Thursday, March 2, 5:30 p.m. at Virginia Davis's home. In Soul Feast, Mary Mikell and Betsy Irvine will continue to illuminate how our spiritual concerns are affected by the different stories we encounter in books, poetry, and articles. Yet another small group, Faith and Community, will provide insights into biblical stories, personal stories, and literature as Stuart Irvine, Rick Moreland, and Jim Wilcox welcome everyone to our morning conversations over coffee. So many opportunities await our engagement with storytelling during Lent! Watch your email and bulletins for more information on these great opportunities to enhance your Lenten preparation.

Mission & Peacemaking

Like to Connect with Cuba?

Travel to Cuba these days is a challenge, but there are still ways to connect with and follow our Cuban partner church. If you use Facebook, you can visit and follow the page of partner church Getsemaní in San José de los Ramos (<https://www.facebook.com/iglesiapresbiteriana.getsemani.1>) or “friend” pastor Josué Montejo (<https://www.facebook.com/josue.montejo.921>). You can post and send messages in English, but if you wish you can use Google Translate (<https://translate.google.com/?hl=en&tab=wT>) to read posts or translate your messages, using cut and paste. If you like, George Strain can provide assistance, as well as Facebook connections to other Cuban pastors and individuals who have worked with UPC, including Joel Dopico, Leticia Ramos, Armando Guedes, and Susana Arévalo. They can also be contacted with the smart phone app, WhatsApp, which requires their phone number but costs them less. They welcome prayers sent electronically as well as any other messages. Personal contacts are often the most meaningful part of our partnership.

Getting financial support to Cuba at present can only be done by physical transport during visits (no US banks can do business in Cuba and mail is hopelessly unreliable), but one option is by adding minutes and internet data to their smart phone with the app Ding Top-up to support their pastoral work. Funds can be added to their phones and charged to your credit card. This was especially helpful in keeping the church together during Covid, when face-to-face ministry was impossible.

Contact George Strain (225-937-8094 or strain@lsu.edu) for details and assistance.

A NOTE FROM OUR FRIENDS IN GUATEMALA:
Thank you very much! On behalf of the team of weavers, we thank you for all the support during this year, we thank every person at the church who we met and also don't know for their purchases and taking our weavers into account. As you see in the picture they were very happy and grateful. May God bless you and each person at the church and we hope you have a happy holiday!!!

Youth Group

December Highlights:

In December the middle school and high school wrapped presents you all gave to kids served by Presbyterian Homes and Services. We listened to and took part in the potluck and presentation about Guatemala from this past summer. We had a great time figuring out which baby picture went with which youth group person as part of a celebration of the coming of Jesus and baby Hartmann. But, perhaps the most fun, was delivering Advent Angel surprises each week to members of the congregation we haven't seen in a bit (for various reasons).

January Highlights:

January brought the chance to hear about our Cuba partnership and see photos from past youth trips to the island. (Thanks George Strain!) Recognizing the Martin Luther King, Jr holiday, we joined with the Mid-City Redevelopment Alliance to help clean up Sweet Olive Cemetery. (You can read more about the cemetery here: shorturl.at/BRS46.) And, to top it all off, we got to eat delicious soup and pie...

2 CIRCLE MEETINGS to choose from

Tuesday, February 7th at 10:00 a.m. in person in the Parks Wilson Room

Linda Walker will lead Lesson 6, "Sabbath and Hospitality", of Celebrating Sabbath. Because the gift of "Sabbath" is open to all there is an underlying call to provide hospitality to all! A light lunch will be served right after our meeting, using the acronym L.A.U.G.H.S. as a guideline which we learned about in Lesson 4, for the meal: Local, Affordable, Uncomplicated, Good, Healthy, Seasonal. Learn about extending "welcome" in Lesson 6. If you are new to UPC, this is a perfect time to participate with PW Circle.

Wednesday, February 8th at 10:00 a.m. in person on Peggy Carroll's carport (1545 Patrick Drive) will also study Lesson 6, Sabbath and Hospitality, of Celebrating Sabbath, led by Peggy Carroll.

Peggy's Carport is ready for visiting (weather permitting) every other Wednesday at 10:00 a.m. in February. There is no agenda. Everyone is welcome.

Presbyterian Women in Mission

Since 1997, NOROC in Romania has received three PW Thank Offering Grants of $10,000 and one PW Birthday Offering grant of $200,000 to achieve their mission "to share God's blessings by providing new spiritual developmental, social and health opportunities for Romanian orphaned children."

Since the Russian invasion of Ukraine, NOROC has offered care and shelter for refugees, mostly women and children, by providing funds for housing, food, clothing, medical care and other emergency needs.
